New National Nurse Talk Radio Show Takes Off Humor, Health, and a Voice for the Patient Advocate

America's most beloved profession—the Registered Nurse—finally has a radio home, run by and for the nation's 2 million+ registered nurses. Nurse Talk launched last month, airing in California and available internationally as a pod-cast, with the goal of peeling the surgical mask off the nursing world—and remembering that laughter is always the best medicine. Hear it online at nursetalksite.com.

“Hi, who’s on the line? Nurse Talk radio show co-host Casey Hobbs RN has an up-for-anything tone in her voice. A caller named Mary Ellen describes “very swollen legs from my groin down to my toes” “Oh my God, death is imminent for you,” co-host Maggie McDermott RN deadpans in an undiluted Irish brogue. “Now Magster, let’s not start right like that,” Casey chides.

Despite the comic exchange, Mary Ellen ultimately leaves the air armed with some authentic healthcare advice. She has also joined the fun, which was the show’s proud intention in the first place.

Nurse Talk Is Everywhere..

Over 56,000 listeners a month and growing.....

With the help of our listeners, partners , RN's and sponsors Nurse Talk has found an audience and it is growing. Who knew promoting healthcare and related issues --mixed with some good old fashion entertainment and of course a good measure of laughter---would find it's place on the national scene so quickly? Well the answer is ...we HOPED it would. Nurse Talk has proven to be a “soft” approach to issues that concern all of us---our health and the health of those we love. What better way to engage people than laughter and entertainment. IT WORKS and the guys at CAR TALK on NPR have been doing for years.

Now's your chance to join us as a sponsor , advertiser, listener or fan. We invite you today to listen and look at Nurse Talk as a viable means of reaching out to your customers, donors and other important relationships. You'll be in good company.....
